Kindergarten Registration Set For May 31-June 1st

Kindergarten registration for Appomattox County children is being scheduled on May 31 and June 1. This activity is sponsored by the Appomattox County Schools and the Health Department for children who reach their fifth birthday on or before Oct. 31, 1973.

The schedule for Kindergarten registration is as follows: Appomattox Primary School and Pamplin Elementary School, Thursday and Friday, May 31 and June 1 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The registration gives the school the opportunity to register and make advance plans for the Kindergarten child. It is very important that all children are registered since plans for the school will be made on the basis of the results of the registration. These plans will include the number of teachers, number of buses, materials to be ordered, and consideration of all other aspects of operation. Parents have been mailed registration forms which they are asked to partially complete at home and bring with them at the time of registration. They, also, received a letter of information concerning the school and a physical health record form to be submitted on the day of registration or as soon thereafter as possible.

It is necessary that each parent will bring with him on registration day the child's health record (immunization and disease history) and his/her official State birth certificate (not to be confused with the hospital certificate), As a result of the

Larry Robinson Signs With Cowboys

(The following is an article which appeared May 13, 1973 in The Knoxville News -Sentinel concerning Larry Robinson, a University of Tennessee athlete from Appomattox.

We feel sure this information will be of interest to all readers of the TIMES-VIRGINIAN.)

Larry Robinson, Tennessee basketball captains of last season, has signed a small bonus contract with the Dallas Cowboys.

Robinson, out of football since his high school days at Appomattox, Va., signed with Cornell Green and will report to the Cowboys' earliest summer camp for an introductory course in Coach Tom Landry's system.

Robby, 6-5 and 210, had hoped to play professional basketball but was not drafted. Gil Brandt, vice president with the Cowboys, spotted defensive back potential in Larry and made the free-agent offer.

"This is another great opportunity for Larry and I feel sure he'll take advantage of it,"

National Banjo Festival Set For Memorial Week End

Banjo lovers will gather Memorial Day weekend at Historic Appomattox Court House, Virginia where Lee surrendered to Grant, now a National Shrine, for the First Annual National Banjo Pickers Championship. Adjoining the shrine sight of the championship, is the ancestrial farm, birthplace, and burial site of Joel Walker Sweeney (1810-1860) inventor of the Five String Banjo.

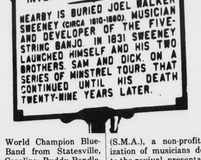
Sweeney was inspired to invent the present day 5-string banjo by a gourd which had 3-strings stretched over a rawhide face. It was brought to America by the African slaves.

Sweeney launched a lifetime world wide tour of minstrels that entertained the White House, Victorian Queens and the crowned Heads of Europe.

Over 1000 musicians have registered for the competition which is scheduled to start at noon on Saturday.

Nationally known performers invited to attend the National Banjo Festival include String Bean, Grandpa Jones and Roy Clark of the television "Hee Haw" show; the Osborne Brothers and Don Reno.

Participating in the 3-day program will be the Blue Valley



Boys, World Champion Bluegrass Band from Statesville, North Carolina; Buddy Pendleton, World Champion Fiddle Player from Pearisburg, Virginia; and Ricky Faine, World Champion Flat Foot Dancer from Charlotte, North Carolina.

Universal Pictures will be present to "shoot" some films during the festival.

The three day festival of camping, music and family fun, May 26, 27 and 28th - RAIN OR SHINE -, is the first of its kind. It is presented by the Virginia State String Music Association (S.M.A.), a non-profit organization of musicians dedicated to the revival, presentation and preservation of the early folk arts in America.

The championship will feature the Banjo in Solo, Dueling Banjos, and the Banjo as a part of the band; classical, bluegrass, and old time. The competition will also include many bluegrass and old time bands and gospel groups in competition. The tunes played by these groups are old, many

A Trooper Fights an Unseen Enemy

The following story appeared in the "Virginian-Pilot." Suffolk, in their May 17, 1973 edition. The story was written by Nita Sizer, staff writer for that newspaper and we are reprinting it for our readers.

WINDSOR – Doug and Judy Pollard will celebrate their second wedding anniversary June 5, but it won't be the type of celebration they would have planned a few months ago.

Pollard, a 28 -year-old state trooper assigned to the Smithfield area last September, went to a surgeon in April to have a mole removed from his waistline where the heavy leather belt of his uniform kept it irritated.

The mole was malignant, his wife said last week, and when Doug came out of surgery he had 117 stitches in his side from extensive cutting to remove cancerous nodes.

When he went back for a checkup, she said, X - rays showed that the malignancy had spread rapidly to both lungs, his liver and back.

He was transferred May 8 from Riverside Hospital in Newport News to the chemotherapy clinic of University of Virginia Hospital in Charlottesville, His wife is with him. Their 6-month old son, Shawn, is with Judy's parents in Appomattox.

On May 14 the young trooper went on a payless leave of absence, his accumulated sick leave and vacation time used up.

Meanwhile, friends and fellow troopers, knowing he would be going off the payroll, started a fund for him known as the D.F. Pollard Fund. W. B. Copeland, Windsor contractor and a justice of the peace, organized it and placed the account with the Farmers Bank of Windsor.

By May 15, the fund totaled $3,100.

"We'd only intended to stay a

Trooper Pollard

month here," Judy said from Charlottesville, "I don't know how long we'll be here now."

The chemo-therapy treatments are given for five days, then are stopped for 21 days, she explained, the series repeated as needed. Doug finished the first series Sunday and they had hoped they'd be able to spend the next three weeks at her parents' home in Appomattox. Instead, the doctors didn't want him moved.

Doug's superior officer, Sgt. L. A. Graham, knew the young trooper before Pollard joined the State Police in March 1972. Graham was a trooper stationed near Lynchburg. Doug was a member of the Lynchburg Police Department, and Judy, before her marriage, was a dispatcher in the State Police divisional office in Lynchburg.

Smithfield was Pollard's first assignment with the State Police,

Talking about the Pollard fund for Doug and the people who have given generously, Graham said there is no provision in state regulations for ordinary sickness not related to the job.
